

COST! COST!

FOR 30 DAYS!

HERMON & WILSON

Offer their Entire Stock of

DRY GOODS

AND

CARPETS

AT

NEW YORK COST

NOW IS THE TIME TO

Secure Bargains!

WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF

SUMMER

DRESS GOODS

THAT WE WILL SELL

LESS THAN COST.

HERMON & WILSON.

Old Fellows Block, Front St., Fremont, Ohio.

THE JOURNAL

FREMONT SANDUSKY CO., OHIO.

FRIDAY, July 26, 1872.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

Readings.

Findlay is as well as an old oak knoll.

The lightning rod man is again pursuing his White, of the Fifth St. is rustiest in

There is to be a Fremont's tournament, at Proctor has again turned his attention to the present exhibition.

Rains have been frequent and abundant the past week. People no longer complain of dry weather.

There is to be a Convention of fat men at Parkville, Sept. 11. Who will be the representative from here?

Miller, of the Kenton Republic is alarmed because a young lady recently called him by his Christian name.

Some unkind individuals in Clyde street are selling milk by going into the fields and milking their neighbor's cows.

G. W. Opperman, of Belleville, has gone to last giving all the political views of the day, they could not recommend a better weekly to their friends.

James Shannon, of Toledo, while on a drink on Tuesday last, struck his wife on the head with a hatchet, fracturing her skull, and injuring her so that but little hope was entertained of her recovery. The brutal wretch was arrested and is in jail.

Wednesday last was a very agreeable day, pleasant and sunny—a particularly pleasant to the editor who was interviewed by a number of new subscribers, and that the same appeared to the editor of the Journal family. We are open to such interviews every day, gentlemen. Call in.

List of Letters remaining in the Fremont

Post-office, mailed for July 25, 1872.

Mrs. Ida Case, Miss Jane Conz, J. S. Henrich, John H. Hays, Miss Ella Jackson, Mrs.

Allice Kirtz, Mrs. Miss Marion, Wm. Miller,

Miss Miller, Isaac M. Mitchell, Mrs. John G.

Wentzel, H. W. Wilson.

Hotel Opening.—The formal opening of the Hotel Fremont, with place on the corner of evening, August 21. Supper will be served from nine to half past ten o'clock. Dancing will commence at a quarter to eleven. Tickets including supper and dancing, two dollars.

Personal.—Mrs. G. W. Tyler returned from the West last week.—Mrs. G. R. Rod-way and children, of Erie, Pa., are visiting in the city.—Mrs. G. L. Woodruff and daughter are spending a few weeks in this city.—

A. S. Patterson, Esq., of Allegheny City, Pa., spent last Sabbath in the city.

A. Root has leased the room occupied by Dryden & Bros., which he will occupy by the end of September next. He will add to his stock of Dryden and Bros. a large and fine assortment of Hats, Caps, and furnishing goods, of the latest and best style, which will defy competition, on and after the last of September next. 30-t Handsome Store.—Dryden & Bros. are adding the finishing touches to their new store room, and will soon have it ready to occupy.

When they get settled in their new quarters they will have the finest clothing house in the West. In a few weeks look out for the opening of their mammoth clothing house, corner

Front and Oregon streets.

County Fair.—The premiums offered by the managers of our County Agricultural Society, the present year, are more general than ever before offered. Our County Fair affords farmers an opportunity of comparing different modes of treatment of crops and the results and profits of certain kinds of fertilizers and also the best varieties of fruits and vegetables for general or special culture. All should attend.

Dr. Horace D. Ballard, of Findlay, died on the 20th, of typhoid pneumonia. He was a man prominently known and universally respected in his neighborhood. Being a member of the Masonic fraternity, he lodged at this place during his last illness, to attend his funeral, on Sunday, August 5th, at the L. R. & L. Railway being run for those here and at Findlay who wished to attend. The Fremont Band accompanied the funeral.

Temperance Meeting.—The

posters for the Temperance Mass Meeting to be held on the First Grounds at Clyde, Wednesday, July 27th are out. The programme announced is that the forenoon, from half past ten till noon, will be given to social enjoyment, with a few speeches. At half past one the exercises will be opened with prayer, followed by music. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. John Russell, of Detroit, and J. A. Spencer, of Cleveland. The remaining time will be occupied with short speeches and discussions.

Preparing for the Fair.—The Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture yesterday received a communication from Mansfield, enclosing a circular detailing the manner in which the city will undertake the entertainment of the State Fair. The circular contains a list of the various places in the State which are offering to entertain the fair, and also a list of the various places in the State which are offering to entertain the fair, and

also a list of the various places in the State

which are offering to entertain the fair, and

also a list of the various places in the State and opposed to both Grant and Greeley, has lengthy review of the present Indian policy of the Government, and says it is not only to be commended but also to be adopted by the Republican party, and that the course adopted by the President is greatly to his credit.

Another Lucetta. Boggs story has been repeated in the Columbus Dispatch, and it is a good story, and one which will be to the surprise that he had been poisoned.

Hon. Thomas Duncan, Statesman, Democratic member of the Ohio House of Representatives has written a column communication to the Greenville Democrat, republishing Greeley and Brown. He says the nomination of Greeley is a mistake, and that the Republican party should not support him, and that the Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the

Republican party, and that the strange Brown visited the dry goods store where Adams was employed, and with a border, and the surprise of many, and with the time for the day, and walked to a police station with the gun on his shoulder and surrendered himself. General Brown is nearly sixty years of age, and was for many years a regular employee of Memphis. He is a long, thin, bony man, with the newspaper office there. Many years ago he was the partner of Mr. Curtis in Cincinnati, and they together founded the Cincinnati Commercial. His father, the clergyman, is one of the sons of Cincinnati.

Indian Massacre.

The War Department has details of the massacre of the Lee family on Clear Fork, Six miles below Fort Griffin, Texas. The father, John Lee, was killed eight years ago, and the bodies left with the arrows sticking in them.

Mr. Lee's son was out on a hunting trip, aged fifteen, Sumner, aged seventeen, and John Lee, aged six, were taken prisoners. The fact of the massacre of the Lee family, and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family, and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family,

and the fact of the massacre of the Lee family, track he was greeted with loud cheers from the Grand Stand.

John Sample rode Longfellow, and Jimmy Row rode Bassett, the same riders who rode at the branch.

As the race commenced, McDonald stood in front of the Grand Stand, and Uncle John was away of the track.

At the start Bassett took the lead.

He held it to the first mile, and the second half mile, but at the fourth half-mile Longfellow seemed to gain.

Then his lead broke, and he broke away, his tendons gave way, his tail dropped, and the race was up.

"I knew I'd send Longfellow back to Kentucky," shouted McDaniel, as he shook his cane in the air.

Uncle John followed about fifteen minutes behind Longfellow. When he reached the stable the boys had his leg bandaged, but he could not ride. His felloek bent down to the ground.

I walked along with Uncle John.

"What did it?" I asked.

"Well, the dog broke, and then he broke. It's dogged bad luck, but it is devilish hard broke down?" I asked.

"Yes, he is clean gone. He broke like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

like a racehorse, though. He broke

SIMILIS SIMILIBUS OVRANTUR.

MURPHY'S

HOMEOPATHIC SPECIFICS

HAVE PROVED FROM THE MOST extensive, and entire course, Single-and Double, and Triple, and Best Family Medicine in use—single that is to be used in cases of acute and chronic diseases, and in all cases of acute and chronic diseases, and in all cases of acute and chronic diseases, and in all cases of acute and chronic diseases, and in all cases of

acute and chronic diseases, and

<